Detail information of the programme/activity:

On 3rd Nov.2023, our team visited a slum area in Baramati to conduct a health and hygiene visit. The primary objective of the visit was to provide sanitary pads and first aid kits to the residents of the slum. Upon arrival, we were met with a mixture of curiosity and scepticism, but our efforts to engage with the community and educate them on the importance of hygiene and sanitation soon won them over. We distributed sanitary pads to women and girls, providing them with a necessity that is often taken for granted. Additionally, we distributed first aid kits to households, equipping them with the necessary tools to respond to minor emergencies. The visit was a huge success, with many residents expressing gratitude for our efforts. We also took the opportunity to conduct a brief survey on the community's health and hygiene practices, which will be used to inform future initiatives. Overall, the visit was a valuable experience that highlighted the importance of providing basic healthcare services to undeserved communities.
